

DISCLOSURE

ALL abstract authors are expected to disclose to the program audience any/all relevant financial relationships related to the content of their presentation.

IMPORTANT NOTE: Per CME guidelines; industry employees cannot present an abstract if the content of the abstract relates to business lines or products of their employer.

#1: Disclosure of Relevant Financial Relationships:

List the names of entities producing, marketing, re-selling, or distributing health care goods or services consumed by, or used on, patients, with which you/your spouse/partner have, or have had, a relevant financial relationship within the past 12 months. The ACCME does not consider providers of clinical service directly to patients to be commercial interests.

With respect to this CME activity (check one):

- No, I do not have a relevant financial relationship.
- Yes, I do have a financial relationship. Please provide information below:

Nature of Relevant Financial Relationship	Name of Company(s)

#2: Presentation(s) Content: Faculty Responsibility:

- The presenter warrants that nothing in their presentation is libelous or will infringe the rights of any third party. Presenter also warrants that for any third party materials incorporated into their presentation, they have obtained all necessary permission from the copyright owner of such material. Upon request Presenter agrees to furnish copies of said permission(s) to IASLC. The presenter is responsible for all fees, royalties and other charges for the use of materials. The presenter shall indemnify IASLC for all damages, costs and expenses, including attorneys' fees, incurred by IASLC as a result of a violation of this paragraph

- Presentations must give a balanced view of therapeutic options. Use of generic names will contribute to this impartiality. If the CME educational material or content includes trade names, where available trade names from several companies should be used, not just trade names from a single company.

I have read the statements above.
